after consulting Mayor Gilroy, arranged privately with Newton this morning to do the work on daily orders. He agreed to pay Newton $55 per scowload.

Contractor John D. Dailey has been doing the work under a private agreement with Andrews since Dec. 13 at $55 per scowload, or about 12 cents per cubic yard.

"The Evening World" pointed out that this system was very costly, and that by inviting competitive bids the city would save money. Proposals were invited, with the result that Newton got the contract. He offered to remove refuse material for nine cents per cubic yard. Dailey bid 10 1-2 cents per cubic yard.

use material for nine cents per cubic yard. Dailey bid 101-2 cents per cubic yard.

Now Dailey claims to have discovered and proposes to show that Newton is not a responsible bidder; that he is merely a "dummy" for a "clique," and he in timates broadly that this "clique" was enabled to obtain inside information on which to underbid him.

Mr. Dailey, who has been "on the inside" himself, knows a thing or two which would interest the public. He is mad because he was "euchred" out of the contract, and the proceeding he has brought in court is only the beginning of what promises to be a very sensetional expose of Street-Cleaning Department methods.

Dailey says he will fight hard and to the bitter end, if it costs him 110.00. He made his first move to-day.

As soon as he learned that Newton was to do the work by private contract he got a friend to make an offer for the work which neither Newton nor any one else could underbid. The offer was made in writing, and is as follows:

I. John J. Travy, of 78 East One Hussired and Pittestih stract. New York, do hereby agree with the Commissionee of Street-Visuaning of said fifty to tow and unload sowes from dumps in the East liver to liker's Island, and return the same to dumps, as directed, for the sum of thirty 18-100 dollars per sow for large Denartment sows, which shall be in fail of all claims and demands for the service of each trip.

"All this trouble and expense will be saved to the person permitted to run his scows behind the critwork and unload there by shovelling the material from the scows.

"Newton must have based his bid on foreknowledge that he would be allowed to unload inside the cribwork. The contract reads both ways, and I believe is not legal, but if the courts sustain it I will fight them in another way.

"The contract calls for the unloading of scows within twenty-four hours after arrival, in all kinds of weather. It is impossible to do that, and failure to do so is a forfeiture of $5 as a pensity.

"I will station inspectors in my pay at Riker's Island to see to it that the city will get a good many of the clique's $5 bills."
